How to Love a Career in Telecoms?

By

Russell Lundberg, USA,

On 17th of November, 2021, 13:30 CET, in Cyberspace

Most Telecom Professionals consider LinkedIn to be an online resume and little more. In this 1-hour presentation, we'll detail how LinkedIn can be used to Learn, Network, and Showcase your skills to help your next opportunity find you. In the talk, we'll also discuss the various roles that one working for a telecom operator could take based on the speaker's experience.

Russell Lundberg has 30+ years of experience working in mobile technology for Mobile Network Operators (MNOs) around the world, specializing in greenfield build-outs, cost-effective operations, Operations Support Systems (OSS), 5G, Open RAN (O-RAN), and career development. Presently Russell is Principal at Intefy LLC, helping Telecom Professionals develop their careers through outreach, education, and mentorship. Intefy has hosted over 11,000 Telecom Pros in our training webinars and courses. He also acts as an advisor to Rimedo labs, contributing to various projects and activities where his background and skills are most useful.

This exciting talk is addressed to students, PhD students and engineers who are invited to join Zoom meeting on: Nov 17, 2021 01:30 pm CET:
